

OLD INDIAN FEUD.

HOW IT WAS ENDED BY A LITTLE GIRL.

Crazy Wolf, a warrior of the Sioux nation, who held to all the savage traditions of his race. For years he refused to receive ransom from the hands of the whites, and this marked him singular among all the Sioux. His deadly enemy was Little Bear, who had made lasting peace in his heart with the whites and who had violated little by little the traditions of civilized living.

The enmity of Crazy Wolf and Little Bear dated from the day of the great battle with the Pawnees. When the remnant of the stricken Pawnees had turned to Crazy Wolf and Little Bear quarreled over the right to take a scalp, and a hand-to-hand combat ensued. The chiefs parted and said that neither must die, for the nation had need of all its men. Though the hands of Crazy Wolf and Little Bear were stayed by the chiefs, hatred still lived in their breasts.

It was ten years after the battle with the Pawnees and at the Pine Ridge agency, where a portion of the Sioux had been gathered, the government erected a schoolhouse for the Indian children. Instantly a division occurred between the fathers of the tribe. One-half declared that teaching of the whites should never have place in the minds of their children. The children of Little Bear went to school. The children of Crazy Wolf were kept in the wigwam.

Runners came to Pine Ridge from Standing Rock and Rosebud. They told of the coming of the Messiah, that the buffalo were returning and that if the Southern Sioux would but put their ears to the ground they would hear the thunder of the hoofs of the oncoming herd.

One-half of the warriors at Pine Ridge agency were seized with the Messiah craze. They danced the ghost dance and put on the ghost shirts. The one-half stampeded from the agency, and with it went Crazy Wolf, as savage in heart as he was when he fought the Pawnees on the frontier of Nebraska. Little Bear stayed at the agency.

One day after the battle of Wounded Knee had been fought a band of 20 Sioux braves broke away from the main body for the sole purpose of raiding Pine Ridge agency and killing the children who were gathered in the schoolhouse—the children of their brothers who had subscribed to the white man's ways. In the band was Crazy Wolf, his heart full of the lust of killing.

The warriors came within sight of the schoolhouse. It stood on a bluff, and on one side was absolutely unprotected. Crazy Wolf knew the location of the room in which the little ones gathered daily at their lessons. The mounted warriors made a headlong rush down the valley skirting the ridge, and as they whirled by the school they poured volley after volley into the room where the children of the friendly Sioux were assembled.

It was not the fault of Crazy Wolf that on that day there was not a slaughter of the innocents. A teacher had seen the feathered heads showing among the willows by the White Clay creek, and, taking the alarm, had hurried the children to the cellar.

The raiding band went northward. There was cavalry at the post to take up the pursuit, and the fugitives succeeded in reaching the main body of Indians, who by this time were surrounded by the troops of Gen. Miles and were being gradually forced into the agency.

Crazy Wolf, when he saw the surrender of his brethren was coming, mounted his pony and made for the Bad Lands. He foresaw the end of the uprising and the complete subjugation of his people, and he laid it at the doors of the tepees of the Sioux who had refused to join the braves on the warpath.

Crazy Wolf made up his mind to kill Little Bear. He nearly starved in the Bad Lands and his pony was dead. A week after the surrender he started for the agency on foot. His ammunition was gone and he had nothing but his knife. He ate willow bark and roots. Hunger took his bodily strength, but his heart purpose was unweakened.

Crazy Wolf, starving, lay on the bank of the White Clay creek. The tepee of Little Bear was only 300 yards away. Crazy Wolf was famished, but he lay there in the bushes waiting for night and vengeance. He looked down to the water's edge, and there he saw a little girl with a willow basket full of food. The little one looked up and saw the famished eyes of the warrior. She smiled at him and held out her basket. Crazy Wolf knew his strength was going fast. It might not last till the hour of revenge. He ate the proffered food. The child was molding clay. Suddenly she turned and offered Crazy Wolf the model of a peace pipe. "You have eaten," she said, "now smoke."

Crazy Wolf took the pipe and blew an imaginary cloud of smoke away from his lips. The little one smiled at him again.

"Whose child are you?" asked Crazy Wolf.

"The child of the great warrior Little Bear," was the answer.

Crazy Wolf had eaten the bread of Little Bear and had smoked the pipe of peace. He had never broken a tradition of the Sioux race.

Crazy Wolf walked into the agency, and a little child was leading him.

SUBSIDIES AND PROTECTION

The Republican System Which Protects the Few and Plunders the Many.

Secretary Shaw, with his vague ideas of economics, often makes most extraordinary statements. Through reading the protection literature, prepared by the Protective Tariff League, he has registered in his partisan mind that "The government has granted either protection or aid to every industry which is now being prosecuted by our people and every industry that can appropriately be prosecuted, international shipping alone excepted." That statement was made in a speech to the Eastern Commercial Teachers' association, and if they were not a lot of clumps, how they must have laughed in their sleeves at the Shaw protection philosophy. It is true the Republican party has protected the trusts and aided the manufacturers, but the people pay the bills and their industry is made less remunerative by the protection the tariff gives the trusts. The greatly increased cost of living since the Hingley tariff bill was enacted has virtually decreased wages over one-third and reduced stationary incomes by a like percentage. Yet Secretary Shaw would add to their burdens still another tax to subsidize the steamship trust.

The policy of the protectionists is to indirectly foster with the protective tariff, or directly subsidize the few who dwell in palaces at Newport, out of the hard earned money of the many who labor and pay the taxes. The southern planter has no protection for his cotton, neither has the northern farmer for his cereals, for both must sell at the world's prices in open competition with all countries that like to have a surplus to dispose of. But all this great agricultural class must pay the increased price for what they buy, which the fostering tariff allows the trusts and combines to charge. The storekeeper, the commercial traveler and the clerk do not find profits, or salaries, advanced in proportion to the increased cost of living, for they are all paying their share of the tariff tax to the trusts to whom, Secretary Shaw so joyously reminds us, "the government has granted either protection or aid."

The trust and corporation barons would make serfs of the workmen they employ, and only through organization have the workmen been able to protect themselves and remain free men. Republican policies and Republican laws have given them no aid or comfort, for under the protective system everything they buy has increased in a much greater ratio than the wages they receive.

This, then, is the policy lauded by Secretary Shaw and the Republican politicians. To protect and subsidize the powerful and rich, by taxing the farmer, the tradesman, the artisan and the laborer. Promises have been made by Republican conventions and politicians to revise the tariff, and similar promises are being formulated to again fool the people, but as long as the protected interests dominate the Republican party there can be no real tariff reform, as the standpatners will never consent to cut off the campaign contributions from the protected trust barons. Those who feel the pinch of high trust prices should think of these matters when they vote next fall for those who are to represent them.

COMMENT AND OPINION.

"McCurdy's sued for another million" is the headline in a New York newspaper. For the Lord's sake how many millions did these insurance grafters get away with?

In order to distract attention from other business issues, the plutocrats are frantically endeavoring to get something else started. But it's hard work.—Portland Oregonian.

The "general unrest" that President Roosevelt admonished us is prevalent, is mostly confined to the White House and the Republican politicians who refuse to revise the tariff and favor the ship-subsidy and other ways of plundering the people.

An autograph letter of Senator Depew's was sold at auction the other day and brought eight cents. Some friend of the senator should have been sufficiently mindful of the fitness of things to have raised the bid 22 cents.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.).

By growing righteously indignant over Belgium's course in the Congo Free State a lot of eminent imperialists in the United States manage to forget all about this republic's course in the Philippines.—The Commoner.

That the Republican leaders are opportunists and ready to recommend and adopt any issue or scheme that will keep them in power was plainly shown, when almost on the same day Secretary Shaw declared for the Hamiltonian policy of concentrating all power in the general government and President Roosevelt recommended confiscation of the property of the multi-millionaires. These two extremists imbedded in the national platform of the Republican party should catch the votes of the imperialists and socialists.

Goods valued at $7,782,456 were imported into the United States last year, on which the duties collected were $8,216,692. So opposed are we to having cheap things sold to us from abroad, so determined are we to tax ourselves rich!—Philadelphia Record.

Congressman Longworth has been trying to help his father-in-law out by telling the Hamilton club of Chicago that the present cry of dishonesty has the elements of hysteria. There is a general objection by Republican politicians to exposing the traffers.

UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM SOUTH CAROLINA PRAISES PE-RU-NA

Ex-Senator M. C. Butler.

Dyspepsia Is Often Caused By Catarrh of the Stomach—Peruna Relieves Catarrh of the Stomach and Is Therefore a Remedy for Dyspepsia.

Hon. M. C. Butler, Ex-U. S. Senator from South Carolina, for two terms, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes to the Peruna Medicine Co., as follows:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine, besides a good tonic."

CATARRH of the stomach is the correct name for most cases of dyspepsia. In order to cure catarrh of the stomach the catarrh must be eradicated. Only an internal catarrh remedy, such as Peruna, is available. Peruna exactly meets the indications.

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Peruna be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Peruna that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character."

AN EVERY-DAY STRUGGLE.

Men and Women of Every Occupation Suffer Miserably from Kidney Complaint.

J. C. Lightner, 703 South Cedar St., Abilene, Kansas, is one of the thousands who suffer from kidney troubles brought on by daily work. "I first noticed it eight or ten years ago," said Mr. Lightner, "the dull pain in the back fairly made me sick. It was hard to get up or down, hard to straighten, hard to do any work that brought a strain on the back. I had frequent attacks of gravel and the urine was passed too often and with pain. When I used Donnan's Kidney Pills, however, all traces of the trouble disappeared and have not returned. I am certainly grateful."

He Was Not Like Some New and Untried "Feller" Among the Girls.

The buxom maid had been hinting that she did not think much of working out, and this in conjunction with the night appearance of a rather sheepish young man caused her mistress much apprehension, relates Everybody's Magazine.

"Martha, is it possible that you are thinking of getting married?" blushing.

"Not that young fellow who has been calling on you lately?"

"Yes, he's the one."

"But you have known him only a few days."

"Three weeks come Thursday," corrected Martha.

"Do you think that is long enough to know a man before taking such an important step?"

"Well," answered Martha with spirit, "I ain't 's if he was some new feller. He's well recommended, a perfectly lovely girl I know was engaged to him for a long while."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh of the Bladder. It is the only reliable cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Halls Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full particulars.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Mrs. Emma Sawyer

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am today a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case."
